

Active Shooter Response - Train The Trainer

Eligibility

OPOTC-certified peace officers, deputies, and troopers assigned full or part-time to an Ohio law enforcement agency.

Prerequisite Requirements

Participants enrolling in the Active Shooter Response Train-the-Trainer program must possess prior training and demonstrated competency in tactical response and instructional delivery. At a minimum, students should have successfully completed one or more of the following courses or equivalent certifications: OTOA Active Shooter Response (Patrol), Active Shooter Response (Tactical Teams) or equivalent. Contact the training office if you think you have met those requirements.

Students are expected to have a foundational understanding of active threat response principles, small-unit tactics, and safe weapons handling, along with prior experience in teaching or facilitating adult learning environments. Documentation of prerequisite training may be required before acceptance into the course.

Description

This Train-the-Trainer course is specifically designed for front-line law enforcement officers who have already completed the 2-day Active Shooter Response (Patrol) or Active Shooter Response (Tactical Teams) course. It builds directly on that foundational training, equipping participants with the knowledge, skills, and confidence to deliver effective, consistent Active Shooter Response training at their home agencies.

The course seamlessly integrates evidence-based classroom principles with practical, skill-based tactics. It emphasizes the patrol officer's primary mission: saving lives through rapid, mission-driven response. Training culminates in immersive, reality-based scenarios that incorporate de-escalation tactics grounded in an understanding of human behavior.

Key Topics Covered

- Principles of responding to active threats
- Safety Priorities considerations during active threat response
- Constitutional use of deadly force and appropriate de-escalation methods
- Two mission-driven tactics for active threat response
- Coordination with additional responding officers, including plainclothes personnel
- Instructional techniques for teaching the curriculum effectively
- Safety protocols for classroom, range, and force-on-force training
- Curriculum execution, lesson planning, and progression of skills
- Documentation, student evaluation, and liability mitigation best practices
